Severely injured in a road mishap

We were so stupefied by seeing an 81-year-old woman whose right leg was damaged greatly in a road mishap. We found out that an autorickshaw driver came in the wrong way and hit her hard. Rushing to escape from there, he didn't notice that the old woman saree got struck near the wheels and dragged her a few meters before locals rushed to stop the vehicle. Later, she was taken to the government hospital, and they sent her back after doing the necessary treatment.

If she had anyone to take care of, it would be fine. But there is no one around her to help, feed, and support in her tough times. Flies swarming wound in the affected area and the saddest thing is that she didn't eat food for 2 days. After seeing her pitiable condition, we immediately called the RMP doctor, and he did a dressing on the wound. Meanwhile, we feed her a nutritious meal which will help to get instant strength. Not only that, we told her from here onwards she would receive the food without any break and also gave her blankets and a mosquito net.

Misplaced trust in idols

Trusting in created things instead of the Creator is our wicked predisposition. Being separated from God is among the most terrible effects of this idolatry. Gowri, a Ponnur native, regularly visits Nagendra Swami Putta (a temple) in an attempt to heal her son, who has been physically challenged since birth. She completes the 108 Circumambulation rite around the temple's sacred site every day in the wee hours of the morning, returning home in the hopes that her son may recover.

We're not sure who instilled this superstition in her. How can an idol heal? It's all false beliefs held by those who readily accept things without doing any research. We made it very evident to her that only the creator can heal creation. And words like "abide in the shadow of the Almighty" and "under his wings you will find refuge" are used by God to entice us to put our trust in him. God draws us closer when we put our trust in him, much like chickens seeking cover from the rain and warmth under their mother's wings. Our trust brings God glory and points us towards him as the source of our joy and life. Finally, the response from Gowri made us ecstatic and we praised God for opening her eyes to trust in him alone. In God's love, we helped her with financial support for the needs of her physically disabled son.

Day: Thursday

Tears rush like a tide

Everybody experiences pain, sorrow, and death at some point in their lives. It's inevitable. What will be our reaction when that occurs? Do we hold God responsible? Do we rely on his will, or not? Usually, we blame God for allowing suffering in our lives, but Malleswari, a 71-year-old woman, expressed her grief in silence and waited for the last day of life. We questioned her about what had led to the current predicament and why she had experienced such a severe depressive episode.

In her reply, she said that my son-in-law had beaten and burned my daughter alive. She is the only hope I have, but now there is no hope. My heart is burdened with the memories of my daughter. I'm feeling ashamed to be a mother who couldn't be able to save my daughter's life from the hands of a wily son-in-law. I'm helpless, so I decided to beg God to take my life at least this time I may live with her happily.

In an attempt to console her, we suggested that the loving God is waiting to heal you and for sure he will end your suffering. And also said, we can't guarantee that you will recover right away, but he will undoubtedly make you a fantastic healer for a large number of others. Rely on him to fully surrender to Jesus, keeping in mind that he is our great soother during our pain. Later, we handed her a 25kg rice bag, monthly groceries, two sets of blankets, and a New Testament Bible.

Day: Tuesday

Emancipated from the shackles of depression.

Our strength is not enough to open the shackles which are completely locked out by the evil of this world with things like Anger, Backbiting, Depression, Fickleness, Greed, Hatred, Impatience, Jealousy, Prejudice, Intolerance and Bigotry. But the supernatural power of our lord Jesus can. “Venkateswari” was chronically anxious and depressed. She felt hopeless and even battled suicidal thoughts. But God emancipated the shackles which she has been carrying for a long time.

Now she is completely fine with the hope of salvation and said that I lose my purpose when I move away from the creator. My life loses its meaning when God is not with me. However, you guys reached out to me and restored my life to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, who is the one who loves and looks out for us above all others.

Day: Friday

An obdurate person became pliable

From day one journey of our ministry, what we learnt was submission to God. When we submit our lives and talents to him, he will perform great things through us. Yes! To make our statement more clear, we are going to introduce a man called Rudra, who behaved rudely with us when we were about to share the gospel. If God's mighty hand is not with us, definitely we would be torn to pieces. He strongly condemned the gospel and tried to scatter us from the place by threatening us with sharp objects.

Literally, it took two and a half hours to calm him down, then finally he came into a normal position where we could sow seeds of the gospel in his heart. No matter how cruel and violent a person is, miracles happen when we trust in the Almighty. Now he is a broken person before God, he realized the mistakes which he made and confessed his sincere apologies to us. We told him that we are not looking for your apologies, but we need just 10 minutes of time to talk to you. He accepted and heard the Gospel.

His external nature, thoughts, emotions, and will are all broken by God's dealings, which makes it simple for him to acknowledge his errors and come clean. For others, speaking with him won't be tough. His emotional and mental faculties will be able to accept other people's viewpoints, talk to him, and impart knowledge because the shell he once had is broken and now he has become pliable.

Day: Monday

An unwavering support

Elderly people don't have an option for their lives when they turn to the last stage. Either the children have to take care of them, nor the old age homes. But what about people who don't have both options? Muniappa dedicated his whole life to his one and only son, who passed away in the year 2005 with cardiac arrest. After his death, he went into depression and lived in anguish. We clearly noticed his grief and bereavement, which is completely pulling him back to his son and his memories. Hardships and heartaches are part of life's journey. At least if he had support from anyone, there would be a chance to come out of depression, but we know that people are busy doing their stuff and it's highly impossible for them to care for others.

So that's the reason we decided to provide unwavering support to the people who are abandoned and depressed. When we were on the same stage, God gave us hope and filled our hearts with true joy. That's the reason we started the True Joy Global Foundation to continue the support for people who mostly needed it. We clearly told Muniappa that God will surely give us a permanent shelter to bring all the elderly people to one place. So until that have faith in the lord Jesus Christ who sent us to you for your safety and well-being. Later, we helped him with the True Joy package which comes with a pair of clothes, a water bottle, 2 blankets, fruits, and a New Testament Bible.

Day: Tuesday

From tribulation to adoration

Despite having five sons and three daughters, Radha faced a bitter experience with all her children, who showed their back and refused to spend money on her medical bills. Finally, they made a plot to send her away from home. She noticed the change in their behaviour and experienced great torture from her children. Yet, she remained silent and had a little hope in her heart that one day my children will realize their mistake and admit me with everlasting love. But her thoughts were wrong, one fine day her fourth son and daughter-in-law threw her bag away and told her to not return again. With tearful eyes, she came out of the home and faced many trials and tribulations in her life.

Now she adored the god almighty for opening her eyes that there is no guarantee in the love of humans except in the lord Jesus Christ. She recalled the days when she left alone at the midnight on the pavements. Due to the pollution and fumes from the nearby factories, she attacked with asthma where she couldn't be able to breathe properly, and she is becoming so weak. Yet, the faith which she had in God is magnificent. Our hearts were touched by the Holy Spirit when we saw a spark in her eyes and promised her that our organization will support with monthly medicines.
