

TRUE JOY ORPHANAGE

SEPTEMBER

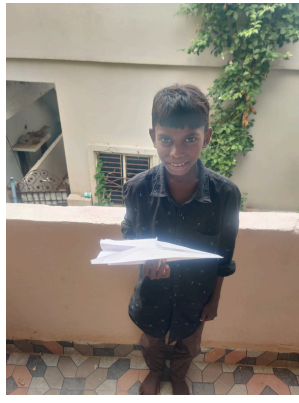

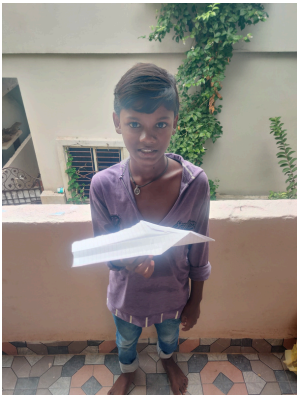

2025

As we reflect upon the month of September, we are filled with hearts of gratitude for the precious moments shared with the children under our care. It has been a month marked by growth, creativity, and the gentle hands of our little ones shaping something beautiful from the simplest of materials. Through paper, they have not only crafted objects of wonder but have also crafted stories of hope, joy, and resilience.

In the spirit of exploration and imagination, our children embarked on a special journey of creating rockets, boats, and hand fans—all made from simple paper. What began as a humble collection of materials soon blossomed into masterpieces, each symbolizing something far greater than mere craft.

Paper Rockets: As they folded and shaped paper into the form of rockets, the children were reminded that with God’s grace, they too can soar beyond their circumstances. These rockets—though small in size—remind us that even the most fragile vessels, when held by God’s hands, can achieve great heights. With every fold, the children were learning that faith can lift them beyond what they can see and imagine. Their excitement as they launched their paper creations into the air was a sweet reminder that God has placed in each of us the power to dream big and to reach for the stars.

Paper Boats: The boats crafted by the children were not just paper and glue; they were symbols of faith and perseverance. Just as a boat sails through the waves, these little hands were learning that even in the stormiest seas of life, God provides a vessel to carry us through. Each child spoke with pride about the journeys their boats would take, whether across the paper seas or through the storms of their own lives. They learned that no matter how rough the waters, God's love would always guide their paths. As the boats gently floated on water, it was a visual reminder that with Christ, we can navigate the difficult waters with courage and grace.

Paper Hand Fans: The hand fans were more than just tools to beat the heat—they became symbols of the warmth of God's love, which refreshes our souls. As the children carefully crafted each fan, they spoke about how, just as the fan provides comfort in the sweltering heat, God's love provides relief and peace during our times of struggle. These hand fans, simple yet beautiful, became a living metaphor for the ways in which God's love surrounds us in all seasons of life.

We give thanks to God for His provision, for the way He has used each of these crafts to teach us deeper lessons about His faithfulness and love. We also thank you, our beloved supporters, for walking this journey with us. Your prayers, encouragement, and generosity make it possible for us to continue offering a safe, loving environment where these children can explore their creativity and, most importantly, grow in their faith.

As we move into the final months of the year, we are eager to see how the lessons learned this month will continue to shape these young lives.

We pray that each child here at True Joy Orphanage will always know that, just as they crafted something beautiful from paper, their lives are also being carefully shaped and formed by God's loving hands.

Thank you for being a part of this incredible journey. We ask that you continue to pray for the children, for the staff, and for the work that God is doing in this place.
